

I don't want to lie anymore and I write this with heavy heart not because of what I am about to do but because of what I become. I have to say my sorries to many people I hurt. My family especially my girls who I will miss. I did many terrible things and that I am sorry. My affairs especially with young girl Daniele I am sorry. Lots of things will come out soon and to you Daniele I am sorry. Our relationship was special to me. I blame many people for things that I do and I am sorry. The stress of work and not knowing if I get or keep work clearance worries me. This house worries me especially how much everything costs. My wife and her habits I cant take anymore. We fight all time over money. She pushes me to move stuff all the time. I tired of hearing Honey we expected this to happen and her always telling me what to do. That why I yell at her. My health and these things with and on my body make me sick. I don't want to take pills anymore or see doctors. I know everyone will be ok and continue without me. I cant be like this anymore. Goodbye.

COPY